Welcome to the Changing Minds to Address Poverty in the Classroom Course.

Based on the work of Eric Jensen, this course provides background on the effects of poverty on learning in the classroom. The course moves beyond theory and provides practical classroom strategies tied to seven essential mindsets identified by Jensen. Participants will explore multiple strategies and choose specific strategies to implement within their classroom. Complete this course to electrify the learning and empower students living in poverty with what they need to succeed in your classroom and in life.

To complete the course you will work through all sections in order found in the Table of Contents on the left side of the page. Begin by clicking Start Here and continue through each of the resources in order.
